Prisoner Issue Still Blocking Negotiations at Panmunjom; Allies Continue to Stand Firm

Munsan, Korea (AP)—Allied truce negotiators said today the U. S. Command never will follow the path of "betrayal, force and bloodshed" by bowing to Red demands for blanket repatriation of some 170,000 Allied-held war prisoners.

The prisoner issue is blocking negotiations at Panmunjom for a Korean armistice.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief U. N. delegate, said acceptance of the communist proposal would "mean an abandonment of the principle of human rights."

"Neither now nor in the future do we intend to be a party to such a transaction," he declared.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il said Allied refusal to repatriate prisoners who do not want to go home is "devoid of any reason, any precedent and any legal basis." He said the U. N. plan would not be "tolerated by an opposing belligerent who stands on an equal footing with the opposing side."

Nam's long tirade included charges that Allied planes have bombed and strafed prison camps in North Korea and that Red prisoners on Koje Island have been slaughtered.

"Who has cut off the rations of war prisoners?" he asked. "Who has been incessantly slaughtering war prisoners like cattle with bayonets, machineguns, flame throwers and tanks?"

Nam repeatedly charged Allied violations of the Geneva Convention, to which neither Red China nor North Korea subscribe.

His remarks brought a sharp retort from Harrison, who declared: "You have cloaked your failure to observe international law with respect to prisoners of war by repeatedly asserting that you have observed the 'best spirit' of the covenant."

The delegates will meet again at 11 a. m. tomorrow, 9 p. m., EST, Friday.

Increase in Rates Requested By The Western Union

Washington (AP)—The Western Union Telegraph Co. petitioned the government today for authority to raise its domestic message and money order rates 9.3 percent. It said the boost is needed to pay its employees more money.

The company posted the proposed higher rates with the Federal Communications Commission FCC and fixed July 6 as the effective date of the boost.

The revisions could be protested during the 30-day period by Western Union customers or blocked by the FCC if it considers the increases unreasonable.

W. U. said the increases together with further hikes on other service to be filed later would give the company about $18,000,000 per year in added revenues.

A 53-day strike by W. U. employees, members of the AFL Commercial Telegraphers Union, ended last month in agreement on a new contract.

Workers would receive wage benefits under the new pact but it would not go into effect until the FCC okay's higher W. U. rates. The union agreed to help the company in its fight for a rate increase.

U. S. Sabre Pilots Down Several Migs

Seoul, Korea (AP)—U. S. Sabre pilots shot down seven Russian-built MIG-16s and damaged two today as the Red jets swooped on Allied fighter-bombers blasting North Korean rail lines near Manchuria, the Air Force announced.

The MIG kills were the first reported since Saturday.

Five were shot down and two damaged in a noon battle between a screening force of 36 Sabres and a flight of 16 Communist jets.

One other MIG was knocked down in a separate fight at about the same time between 26 Sabres and 12 MIGs.

U. S. Fifth Air Force said its planes to date have destroyed 316 MIGs, probably destroyed 58 and damaged 507 in the Korean war.

Sale of Property at North Warren For Proposed Shopping Center Is Rumored

With plans for the possible construction of a large shopping center on Route 62, at North Warren, still in the category of a rumor, it was stated today that a piece of property on the west side of the highway had been sold. This tract, 263 feet on the highway and 700 feet deep, was said to have been sold for $11,500, with Clement Wolstencroft, 6 Fourth avenue, representing local interest.

Mr. Barley, however, denied that he had sold the property, and said "I have signed no deed and have not seen a nickel." He said, however, that he had agreed to the sale.

Roger L. Hendrickson's property, adjacent to and north of the Barley property, also had been considered and was gone over by the prospective investors. Mr. Hendrickson, however, is said to have refused to sell and plans to construct a housing development there of possibly 50 homes, several of which have been completed.

Another property which is said to be wanted by those who plan the shopping center is a lane immediately south of the Barley property, which is owned by Maurice R. Brann, 209 Second avenue. Mr. Brann could not be reached for comment.

The other large tract of land which, it is understood, the developers intend to purchase, is owned jointly by George Carlson, 611 Conewango avenue, and Jack C. Katon, 200 Willsborough avenue. Mr. Carlson refused comment, referred the Times-Mirror reporter to Mr. Katon, who could not be reached.

A local resident who is said to be one of the prospective incorporators emphatically refused use of his name, but did say he "might be one of several" interested in the deal. Asked about Mr. Wolstencroft's connection, he said he was acting as "advisor in general construction." Mr. Wolstencroft, who designed the new Colonel Drake Hotel in Titusville, also drew plans for several local business places.

The resident who refused use of his name said "nothing definite" would be known for 30 days. Asked the nature of the business places which will occupy the new shopping center, he said no contracts had been entered into and refused further comment. One local retailer said today he had been asked to take store space.

Third and Safest Series of Atomic Tests Completed

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP)—The third, and safest, series of atomic tests at Nevada proving grounds completed, the nation's nuclear masters began thinking today of possibly bigger things to come at the Nevada test site.

A series of tests has been slated for the Pacific proving grounds after this year—perhaps late summer or early fall. Larger atomic responses generally are tested at the Nevada test site.

Speculation included the possibility that the first H-bomb may be detonated there.

Yesterday's eighth and final test of the series brought the Nevada test site to 20 since the AEC started shooting off its "devices" in January, 1951. The unofficial U. S. total is now 32.

Despite the far-bouncing shock waves, no verifiable damage has been reported to the AEC in its series. This contrasts with 81 valid damage claims on which the AEC paid out $42,939.58 in the two test series in 1951.

FBI Says Youth Traded a 1-A Card For Friend's 4-F

Chicago (AP)—A 20-year-old youth was seized by the FBI yesterday on a charge of evading the draft by trading his 1-A draft card with a friend who was classified 4-F.

The charge was against Richard Dean Phelan, who told FBI agents he wanted to remain out of military service until after he was married in August.

Phelan said his friend, Robert Hybert, 22, had been rejected for military service for failing to pass his physical examination but agreed to trade his 4-F draft card. Hybert answered Phelan's induction call by enlisting in the Air Force and was sent to San Antonio, Tex.

Erwin Cohen, Asst. U. S. Atty., said Phelan told him he planned to take another physical and enlist under Hybert's name after his marriage in August.

"That way we will both be happy," Phelan told Cohen.

Phelan was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner C. S. Bentley Pike who set his bond at $2,500 pending a hearing today. Government officials said they had not determined what action will be taken against Hybert.

BILL PROVIDES FOR POSTAL WORKERS PAY

Washington (AP)—Congress whipped an appropriation bill through both houses yesterday and President Truman signed it, putting meaning back into the pay days of half a million postal workers.

About half the money in the bill was for post office work done in May. The postal employees did not get their usual checks June 1 because the post office had run out of salary funds.

This fiscal year's regular payroll appropriation was used up early, due to a general pay raise. Congress had not voted money to cover the additional pay. This is the last month of the fiscal year.

Postmaster General Donaldson immediately authorized postmasters to resume salary payments.

STRIKE SPREADS TO HARRISBURG PLANT

Harrisburg (AP)—The nationwide steel strike spread today to the Harrisburg Steel Corp., employing 1,225 production workers.

The plant continued operations when the CIO Steelworkers Union called the general strike because negotiations still were in progress between management and local steelworkers union officials. Those negotiations broke down yesterday.

Clair March, director of industrial relations for Harrisburg Steel, said no other bargaining meeting was scheduled.

March reported the shutdown was orderly and that sufficient crews stayed on during the night to carry out the shut down.

NAVAL ACADEMY GIVES COMMISSIONS TODAY

Annapolis, Md. (AP)—The Naval Academy sent 769 new officers in to the service today under a shower of white hats and to the applause of some of the nation's top military leaders.

They were among 783 midshipmen in the 121st class to graduate from Annapolis since the academy was founded in 1845.

America will look to them, for leadership in days to come, Adm. William M. Fechteler said in the main commencement address.

Fechteler is chief of naval operations, the ranking officer of his service.

MARTIN EXPLAINS ATTITUDE ON BILL

Washington (AP)—Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.) was announced as opposed to a motion in which the Senate yesterday postponed action on the Defense Controls Bill to avoid any action on steel-strike amendments.

The motion was passed 42 to 38. Sen. Martin was listed as not voting or paired, although announced as opposed to the motion.

Sen. James H. Duff (R-Pa.) was not listed as voting, paired or on the record in any way.

GEN. RIDGWAY HAS PART IN D-DAY EVENT

Normandy Beaches, France (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway marked the eighth anniversary today of the Normandy D-day with a warning to the "lords of Communism" that another war "would bring dreadful suffering to us, but it would bring destruction to them and their power."

Ridgway spoke at ceremonies on Utah Beach commemorating the thousands who died there in the June 6, 1944, invasion that launched the final conquest of Nazi Germany.

The general himself parachuted at the head of his 82nd Airborne Division behind the German lines at nearby Ste. Mere Eglise, several hours ahead of the invasion waves.

"The last time I came as one of thousands to wage war," the new supreme Allied commander in Europe said. "This time I come to wage peace."

The general also arranged to lay wreaths at other historical points along the invasion beaches during the day—at milestone zero, start of the "Liberty Highway," route of victory through France to Germany; at monuments and military cemeteries where lie thousands of soldiers who fell on the beachhead.

Ridgway was made an honorary citizen of Ste. Mere Eglise in a short ceremony on the steps of the old city hall. An enthusiastic audience, including scores of school children, shouted their welcome and threw flowers as he passed.

The general was accompanied by Maj. Ridgway, who wore a grey tattered suit and a "battered" hat.

Before revisiting Ste. Mere Eglise, he visited Port Winston, the spot at Arromanches where British and Canadians swarmed ashore on D-day. He was on the waterfront steps to greet British First Lord of the Admiralty, James Thomas, who came ashore in a "duck" from a destroyer.

Also on hand was Gen. Ralph Montclair, who served under Ridgway in Korea with a French battalion.

COURT ORDER HALTS MEADVILLE PICKETS

Meadville, (AP)—The National Bearing Division of the American Brake Shoe Co. was ready to resume normal production at Meadville today after a court order halted picketing at the plant gates.

Judge Herbert A. Mook issued the temporary injunction yesterday and scheduled a hearing on a permanent injunction for Tuesday.

Members of the AFL International Association of Mechanics picketed the plant.

Company officials said there is no dispute at the Meadville plant. The association has been on strike at a St. Louis plant for several months over a new contract.

The union said the pickets came there Thursday from St. Louis because the company is transferring work that ordinarily would be done at the St. Louis plant to Meadville.

CONGRESSMAN HAS A KIDNEY OPERATION

Washington (AP)—Rep. Fenton (R-Pa.) was reported today as "getting along fine" after removal of a kidney stone.

Fenton, a Mahanoy City, Pa., physician serving his seventh term in the House, began experiencing back pains during a weekend visit to his congressional district.

The pain persisted after his return to Washington and on Wednesday he entered Bethesda Naval Hospital. An operation resulted.

CONFERS ON STEEL STRIKE—CIO President Philip Murray, left, and Arthur Goldberg, general counsel for the CIO United Steelworkers, arrive at the Executive Offices building in Washington to meet with presidential assistant John R. Steelman. Murray and representatives of six major steel companies met with Steelman in an attempt to settle the wage-price dispute which is causing the nationwide steel strike.

Office of Price Stabilization Reports Potato Costs Soaring As Result of Lifting Ceilings

Washington (AP)—The government reported today that wholesale prices of white potatoes shot up as much as $2 to $4 per hundred pounds overnight after the removal of price ceilings.

The Office of Price Stabilization OPS lifted the controls late yesterday after the Senate had voted to exempt fresh fruits and vegetables from price controls beginning July 1.

Today, OPS officials quoted figures from the Agriculture Department's Marketing News Service showing the overnight advance in prices at Pittsburgh and New York for potatoes from California and the Carolinas. The prices are wholesale for U. S. No. 1, size A, 2 inch potatoes.

The report showed that California long white potatoes were selling in New York yesterday at $5.28 to $6.31 per hundred pounds. Today the quotations ranged from $8.50 to $9.50, an advance of up to $3.22 per hundred.

A produce buyer for a large eastern store chain said: "A lot of speculators are going to get caught with high-priced spuds, and when the dumping begins, these abnormal prices will soon become history. Three more weeks should see plenty of potatoes in most stores."

Other officials said potatoes have been almost impossible to buy in retail stores in many areas. They guessed there would be a sharp price increase, probably dropping off late this month and in July, when the 1952 crop hits the market.

Arnall said the Office of Price Stabilization OPS decided to remove the ceiling over potato prices because the Senate had voted to do so, effective July 1. Although the Senate vote would not become law unless concurred in by the House and approved by (Turn to Page Nine)

Strike Reacts On Tank Production

Washington (AP)—The Army is expressing concern over the impact of the steel strike on its tank production program.

During the last two months, a spokesman said today in answer to questions, the "production picture has improved greatly."

But, he said, the steel strike "will have an adverse effect on tank production, an effect which will become progressively worse the longer the strike lasts."

Tank building represents one of the military's major needs for steel. To make one of the new T41 light tanks which weighs 28 tons with spare parts, a total of 68,800 pounds of steel must be on hand; a medium tank of about 48 tons needs 118,000 pounds.

The Army declined to disclose the total amount of light, medium and heavy tanks for the current production program.

SETTLEMENT TALKS TAKE HOPEFUL TURN

Washington (AP)—Government sponsored peace talks in the steel strike recessed today until 1 p. m. EST to permit industry leaders to study bargaining proposals.

The four-hour delay was announced by presidential assistant John R. Steelman, who last night reported "real negotiations going on."

The delay was requested by board chairman Ben Moreell of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Co., head of the management negotiating team.

Steelman said Philip Murray, head of the 850,000 striking CIO United Steelworkers, readily agreed.

There was some hope of an early settlement of the dispute.

Democratic leader McFarland of Arizona told the Senate last night there might be a settlement over the week end. The Senate then put aside until Monday all legislation dealing with the strike.

Steelman wasn't so specific but said he had talked with McFarland.

"I certainly am not pessimistic," Steelman told newsmen, "but I wouldn't want to overstate my optimism."

The walkout started Monday after the Supreme Court voided Truman's seizure of the steel industry. More than 100,000 mine, rail and other workers also have been idled.

The first break came late yesterday with announcement that the Detroit Steel Corp. had reached a contract, agreement with the steelworkers, covering 4,500 employees. Details of the agreement, negotiated in Pittsburgh, were not announced.

In the Washington talks, it was reliably reported the union shop—also recommended by the Wage Stabilization Board—was the subject of the most bitter dispute. This would require all steelworkers to join Philip Murray's CIO union after being hired.

Stoppage Causing Pennsy Furloughs

Philadelphia (AP)—Clerks, stenographers, shopworkers and trackmen were among the 9,000 workers affected by yesterday's Pennsylvania Railroad layoffs because of the steel strike.

If the strike continues for any length of time, a company spokesman said, the layoffs will be expanded.

The Reading Railroad will furlough about 1,100 shop workers in Reading and St. Clair on Monday for the same reason, a company spokesman announced.

About 680 of the 700 employees of the Philadelphia, Bethlehem and New England Railroad are being laid off, the railroad said. The strikebound Bethlehem Steel Co. is the railroad's biggest customer.

Workers at the Jersey Central and Lehigh Valley Railroads also are being furloughed, the railroad announced.

BUSINESS INDEX

Pittsburgh (AP)—Declines in the volume of trade and industrial production last week caused a moderate drop in Pittsburgh district business, the University of Pittsburgh reports. The business index stood at 184.7 per cent of the 1935-39 average in the final week of May, compared to 187.1 a month earlier.

"Captain Harry" Takes Off To Join His 35th Battery Division Annual Reunion

Washington (AP)—President Truman left at 11:08 a. m. (EST) today for Springfield, Mo., to attend the annual reunion of the 35th Division, the World War I unit in which he served.

The presidential plane took off in clear, hot weather for the three-hour flight.

Accompanied by his military aides and his press secretary, Joseph Short, Truman looked forward to a get-together with his old buddies of the 129th Field Artillery, who know him as "Captain Harry."

His appearance at Springfield will be highlighted by an address tomorrow in the Shrine Mosque before he flies back to Washington.

Following his arrival at Springfield at 4:15 p. m. (EST) Truman will go directly to the Colonial Hotel for greetings with close personal friends and a family dinner before attending a reception and ball.

Truman, now 68, told reporters that he will march again this year as usual, stopping off at the reviewing stand to watch the units that follow him.

The President looked forward to a private dinner in his hotel room tonight with his brother, J. Vivian Truman of Grandview, Mo., and possibly his sister, Miss Mary Jane Truman. He looked forward as well to meeting with all the men of Battery D, every one of whom he can call by first name.

Hundreds of Prices Below OPS Ceilings A&P Report Reveals

Hundreds of food items are selling below OPS ceiling prices in A & P stores in this area, it was revealed today.

L. J. B. Lynch, A & P sales director for this area, stated that the below-ceiling prices prevail on a wide variety of items, including baby foods, cereals, canned fruits and canned vegetables, bakery products, jams and jellies, meat, dairy products, poultry and other groceries.

"At the outbreak of hostilities in Korea, A & P pledged all its resources in the fight to keep food prices down," Mr. Lynch said. "As a result of our efforts to work harder and do a better job, we have been able to sell many items at less than ceiling prices."

"OPS ceilings prevent the highest prices grocers can charge for food. But it has always been A & P's policy to charge the lowest possible prices to consumers based on the cost of food to us."

The food chain executive pointed to typical items and prices currently in effect in the company's stores in this area as examples of the hundreds of below-ceiling prices.

Many meat items, virtually all bread, cakes, pies and other baked goods, and hundreds of shelf items, including canned goods of all kinds, are well below ceiling prices.

Mr. Lynch stated that not only are hundreds of items selling at less than ceiling prices, but that many of them are currently selling well below prices prevailing a year ago.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

June 4, 1952
Mr. Ed C. Lowrey, Editor
Warren Times-Mirror
Warren, Pa.

Dear Sir:
As long as so many are blowing off steam on the controversial subject of the abandonment of South Street school, why don't a few express their thoughts regarding the matter in accord with the school board or at least in sympathy with them. I believe the school board is doing what is best after long deliberation.

The new school has been in planning stage a number of years. Why didn't those so concerned for their children make their views known before instead of upsetting the apple cart after things have progressed so far. Possibly something was said previously, but I for one never heard it mentioned.

We must realize that there can't be a school next door to all of us. My own school old will have a long trek to school this year too. As far as traffic hazards are concerned, in a town this size they aren't unduly great. As a parent I'd feel myself a failure if I hadn't trained my child by his fifth or sixth year to take proper precautions in crossing highways. Some say the distance factor is their complaint. A child that has the endurance to play for six or eight hours in summer weather surely can walk 3000 feet or slightly more without a physical breakdown.

We baby our youngsters too much. Let's allow them to grow up and depend on themselves a little more. They'll be better able to meet the world when they have to later on.

Sincerely,
(Mother of Four).

Titusville School Board Discusses Proposed Merger

Announcement was made last evening at a meeting of the Titusville School Board by J. E. Jack, chairman of the joint board steering committee, that merger of schools in the area appears almost certain within a few weeks.

Districts concerned are Southwest township in Warren county, Plum, Oil Creek, Rome, Cherry Tree, Putnam Independent townships in Venango and Crawford counties, Centerville and Hydetown boroughs.

Judge Allison D. Wade recently refused an injunction sought by taxpayers of Southwest township, seeking to restrain the school board of that municipality from completing jointure arrangements with Pleasantville boro and Allegheny and Oil Creek townships in Venango county. Southwest township secondary students have been attending Titusville High school for a period of several years.

Mr. Jack reported that considerable progress had been made by the steering committee, and will report on its study at a meeting of all boards concerned next Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. in Titusville High school.

REPORTING

The Warren Public Library has received a very important book which will be processed and made available to its patrons by next week. It is WITNESS, by Whittaker Chambers, former Communist, whose life story is one of the most exciting personal documents of time. The reviews on this book provide some of the liveliest reading to date. They range from numbers of staunch supporters whose attitude suggests pistols at noon with regard to anyone who doubts the man's honesty to others who are still wondering why put important documents in a cupboard unless his flair for the dramatic is overdeveloped. You pay your money and you get your choice. Nevertheless, the book is important reading. Meanwhile, other interesting fiction is being added to the lives through the generosity of Memorial Collection donors: For Mrs. J. H. Alexander—Edie in Hand, by Stearns. For Mrs. Nellie Ferrie Richard—Old American Songs (record). For Calvin Brown—Paul Cezanne, by Downer. For George W. For Sadie Corbin—Talking Thru' Hat, by Dache. For May Gwin H. The Changing Landscape
RALPH G. ECKERT,
Soil Conservation Service,
Warren

Hello folks Well, the month of June has rolled around again and with it comes the first big job of the year for the grassland farmer, cutting the grass, filling the silo, and making hay. Now is the time for us to make those final adjustments, repairs, or replacements to the mower, silo and hay making equipment. When we start cutting the grass for silage it is too late to find that the bearing where we broke the grease fitting last year is now froze and shot or the teeth that were broken when we hit a stone while making hay had not yet been replaced. So these last few days before the grass is ready to cut is an ideal time to make this checkup.

The season being late again has caused a definite lag in application of conservation practices to the land. However, Jordan Christensen, down Columbus way, has built 1,550 feet of diversion terraces. The SCS staked these diversions on a 1 per cent grade to take off the excess water from one of his hay fields and Jordan built them with his farm equipment. To date he has built over 4,000 feet of diversions and is still just about half finished according to the conservation plan he made several years ago.

The SCS helped John Carmody to complete the conservation survey on his farm up Cherry Grove way. He will use this information in deciding where he will plant his various crops when he prepares the basic conservation farm plan later on.

Anyone planning on entering the "Green Pasture" contest sponsored by the Production and Marketing Administration is reminded that this is the last week to get the application in, if he has not already done so.

See you all next week.

Covenant And Calvary Churches Plan School

Bethlehem Covenant and Calvary Baptist churches will unite in sponsoring a Daily Vacation Bible School, beginning at 9:00 a. m. Monday, June 9, and continuing each weekday, except Saturday through Friday, June 20. The school is open to all children from four through twelve years of age.

The daily sessions will be held in Calvary church, Redwood and Center streets, from 9:00 through 11:30 a. m. The program is geared completely to the interests of the children, and is thoroughly graded to the understanding of the various groups from pre-school age through the sixth grade. The program will feature a brief worship period, stories, Bible study, a work book session and thrilling handwork projects.

A combined staff of competent teachers from the sponsoring churches makes this unusual project possible. It is offered as a service to the community, and is an opportunity of which every parent should avail themselves. The few brief hours spent in this school helps equip the child mentally, morally, physically and spiritually in the great scheme of living.

Since its inception the school has proven increasingly popular and last year taxed the limits of the facilities available. The new quarters at Calvary church makes complete grading possible, and helps greatly in the success of the school.

Three Central Church Schools Have Classes

Sessions of the cooperative Vacation Church School sponsored by the First Baptist First Methodist and First Presbyterian churches will begin at 9:00 a. m. Monday in the Presbyterian church school rooms.

Registrations will be accepted for children of kindergarten age through sixth grade regardless of denominational affiliation. Children not already registered are urged to do so before Monday morning if possible.

The curriculum will be based on the Life of Christ with emphasis given particularly to the importance of discipleship in spreading the Christian message. Assembly programs will include story sermons by ministers of sponsoring churches, motion pictures, scripture memorization and group singing of outstanding hymns and gospel choruses.

Department superintendents appointed by the planning committee are kindergarten, Mrs. James Francis; primary, Mrs. Eloise Kay; junior, Mrs. Russell Irwin. They will be assisted by teachers from the church schools of the three churches. Mrs. Robert S. Steen is enrollment secretary, and Miss Hulda Augermann is director of the school.

Unusual Theme Planned For Baptist Program

Children's Day at First Baptist church will be observed at 11:00 a. m. Sunday. "He Cares For You", a portrayal of one of the church where the former has already been made to feel at home, provides the framework for the children of the church school to share with their parents and friends some of the things they have learned and experienced in lessons of the past year.

The young people of the junior high department will sing "How Strong and Sweet My Father's Care" and "We Give Thee But Thine Own". There will also be a solo by Carlene Anderson. Marybelle Carr will be at the piano for the offertory, playing "Rustle of Spring" by Sinding. Young people of the senior department will serve as ushers.

The special offering of the day will be used this year to help expand the Winning the Children for Christ program, the American Baptist plan of evangelism for children, that more and more children may know Jesus and His redeeming love.

The young people participating in the program are reminded rehearsal will be held at the church at 2:00 p. m. Saturday.

Bible Words to Live by
JOHN 3:16 — "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

This verse is my favorite because it is so comprehensive. It is almost a miniature of the whole Gospel. It expresses God's love, his gift of Christ and the hope of redemption. While it seems to be voicing only the personal aspect of our faith, it is set in the social framework, and I like to think of that verse hanging like a picture on the walls of our minds.

God's Standard of Honesty
BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
WHAT does it mean to be honest?
The question and the answer are not just as simple as one might suppose. To be honest means to be honest—let that all there is to it? By no means! When one gets into life, and begins to observe society, one quickly finds that there are varying standards of honesty.
There is, for instance, that old, and very true, observation from experience, that "honesty is the best policy," which leaves one wondering just how inherently honest is a man who is honest just because it pays to be. I have known men to be honest where it cost them a lot to stand by their idea of what was right and just.
Then there is the type whose idea of honesty is bound up with ideas of law and legality. As long as the law allows it, why shouldn't he do it?
There is a great amount of that sort of legalized honesty prevalent in the world today, and much of it is very respectable quarters; but what does God think of it? The law of the land, some of it often made by legislators, who are not particularly honest, or who are under the domination of unsavory influences, does not always conform to the law of God, or righteousness among men.
There is the man, too, who wouldn't put his hand in your pocket and steal your wallet, but who sees nothing wrong about manipulating companies and corporations in a way that your investments are wiped out to his gain.
So there are grades, and varieties, and standards of honesty, and so there is some point in asking, "What is God's standard?"
I think God's standard of honesty is related to truth and inherent right. Truth and inherent right are not something that man makes.
Man may make his codes and creeds, and seek to give them divine authority, but that doesn't make them either true or right. In the world of science men have theories concerning facts and phenomena, but they have to abandon such theories, when further and conflicting light and evidence appear.
Though we may not always realize it, the same thing is true in religious experience. Many have had to abandon, or change, their beliefs, when they found that these did not stand the test of further light and evidence.
A striking instance is the general abandonment of the literalistic belief that the world was created in six twenty-four-hour days. A great poem of creation is not a scientific treatise, but science and Genesis agree that creation was a bringing of order out of chaos.
Honesty according to God's standard is to bring one's life and action into harmony with the truth as one sees it. That is true honesty, and nothing less is true honesty.

The Nice Long Vacation

By William Neubauer

Chapter 19

LILY GOLDSBOROUGH, having received a letter, too, laughed uproariously in her caped, four-poster bed. "The devil!" she whooped, laughing so hard tears rolled down her cheeks. "Ah, the devilish scamp!"

The doorbell rang and a moment or two later, her face wreathed in smiles, Aunt Hattie came briskly into the room. "I've received a letter from Jane!" she cried elatedly. "It is all over. The girl has come to her senses at last."

"So I've been told, Hattie," Mrs. Goldsborough waved her to a chair. "Your niece was good enough to write me about it. How amusing. Come don't you find it all rather amusing?"

Aunt Hattie's eyes blinked. "Amusing? There are times, Lily, when I sometimes wonder if your illness hasn't affected your reasoning powers!"

Lily grinned, taking no offense. "Well, you must admit that there is something amusing in the spectacle of a girl running after a man who is so stupid."

"He ought to be horsewhipped," "Nonsense, I'm feeling happy today. Now that Jane no longer has a reason to remain away, she'll come back home. That means I'll have a good nurse again, isn't that something to celebrate?"

Aunt Hattie stared. She hadn't thought about that. "My goodness," she exclaimed, rushing toward the door, "the house is a sight!"

MR. DUNBAR sighed. He, too, had received a letter from Jane Bancroft, in answer to one of his, but she had not reacted to his offer as he had hoped she would. "She is a fool," he snorted. "His secretary came in to take the morning's dictation. 'She is an arrogant fool, and I am done with her.' His secretary said nothing. She was a scrawny, mousy girl who had worked for years in the dividends department, and her promotion to the position as the bank president's secretary was a dream come true. She was too astute a lady ever to say anything that would turn her dream into a nightmare. 'I'm ready, Mr. Dunbar.'"

"Hang it, it isn't important," The elderly man, his temper worn ragged by a host of difficulties which he'd never had while Jane was in Crestview, rose and went to the door of his office. As he had more of less suspected, William was nowhere to be seen. "Hasn't he come in yet? It's ten o'clock. He knows he is supposed to be on duty promptly at nine."

"Oh, he telephoned a few minutes ago, Mr. Dunbar. He has gone fishing, I think."

"Fishing?"

"He told me to tell you that banking isn't especially important."

"He what?"

"The girl wriggled on the chair. 'That was his message, Mr. Dunbar. I tried to reason with him, but he simply told me to go jump in a lake and hang up.'"

"That does it!" Mr. Dunbar snatched his hat from his desk and charged toward the door. "Where is he fishing?"

"The Crestview River, I believe. Down near the bridge, I think. Most of the fishermen go there at this time of the year."

"He has gone too far!" shouted Mr. Dunbar. "He has gone too far!"

But of course his temper had cooled by the time he found his son sitting happily on some rocks at the foot of the bridge.

"Hello, Father. Want to do some fishing?"

"Business at the bank, son. Business you could help me with if you had the mind to."

"Oh, I don't blame him, not anymore. It's myself that I blame. I was so childish. I've hurt so many people. And for what? That's the rub. For what?"

"I imagine," he said quietly, "that those who love you will be sensible enough to stop brooding over the wrong that have been done them, too. Smiling, he rose as the sun disappeared. 'I'm glad you've worked it out in your mind. Incidentally, I'm expecting you at the campfire meeting. I think you have lived withdrawn from the activities of the camp long enough.'"

"I have been a rotten recreation director, haven't I?"

"He was a very gallant gentleman. 'On the contrary, you have been exactly the sort of person I wish to fill the job.'"

"I'll be there."

She smiled after he had gone. She had felt even in New York that he was a remarkable person, and now she was glad that if she had to have a fall the fall had occurred here in this camp, where he would come and help her to pick up the pieces.

She tried to see through the dark, as something rustled in the shrubbery beside the path a few feet ahead. "Who is it? Is that you, Mike?"

THE rustling became louder; then a tall, wiry figure loomed before her. "Just a doctor out for an evening stroll," Bruce said. "I would have joined you on the hill, but I was afraid you might still be angry with me."

"I am," she tried to brush past her bosom heaving. "That is what is so hard to take, though—the knowledge that while to me it yet objected to a man with a good income and a solid future."

"But those things never meant much to Jane. I remember once when she said the cheapest thing in the world was money."

"You see? The girl is insane! Now about the bank..."

"To the devil with it!"

"His father gaped."

"I've given too many years of my life to that bank, Father. It made me unhappy, but I stuck to it because that seemed to be the thing to do. But now I have some sense at last, a mind of my own. So I'm not going back to it."

"I'll disinherit you!"

"Go right ahead," said William Dunbar cheerfully.

"But you can't get along without money. Are you mad? Money is the most important thing in the world. Without it you are lost."

"Answer me this, Father, did Jane accept the job you offered her at a hundred dollars a week?"

"But the girl is..."

"Yet she seems to get along. Do you know what? I think she has the right idea. 'Eat, drink and be merry.' It's an interesting approach to life. I have a good mind to live that way."

"William!"

"I may even go up to Camp Joy to take a few lessons from her."

"I forbid you to leave Crestview!"

William met his father's blazing eyes and laughed. "Now I know I shall go to Camp Joy. Father, you should change your habits. I'm not to be bullied any more. She had the courage to go after what it was that she wanted, and I can't have less courage."

"William, I need you."

"The man stared."

"I need you, William. I'm growing old. I get lonely."

"The man laughed. 'Always yourself, Father, always yourself. What about my needs?'"

"There are any number of proper women you can marry."

"But I want Jane. You see, only Jane."

Chapter 20

MR. FORSYTHE hesitated, then strode across the summit of the little hill and sat down beside his abstracted recreation director. It was almost dusk. He was very fond of the sunset hour, was Mr. Forsythe, who had spent so many years of his life in the woods. To him it was the finest hour of the day, the most peaceful, the most enchanting. But with the sunset faced, daydreaming girl beside him he couldn't find any beauty at all. He shook his leonine head. "This isn't the way, Miss Bancroft," he said finally, in a faintly rebuking tone. "You are a better person than this."

Startled, she whirled, her eyes widening. Then, as he repeated his rebuke, she smiled sadly. "I suppose you are right. The show must go on. But I am a weakling, you see. I am worse. I am a fool."

"No, I think not." He shifted his position, drawing up his legs and resting his arms on his knees. "You were a girl who fell in love, that is all you were. As for the rest—well, it was wrong of you, of course, to want to come between George Poppleton and his wife Leslie—but it wasn't a great wrong because you didn't destroy their happiness. So you have nothing to be ashamed of, and there is no reason for you to brood alone here in these woods. I understand, and Evelyn Moore and Leslie Poppleton and Bruce Hall understand—as for the others, naturally they know nothing about it."

"I should have realized," she said, going over the whole business once more. "There were so many indications that all wasn't as I wanted it to be. George—well even in France I knew that George was a basically honest person. I should have known after I got his card that he had never really been in love with me. That is what is so hard to take, though—the knowledge that while to me it was very serious, to him it was just a good deed."

"We all behave stupidly at times," he said with the air of a man talking from experience. "I won't deny that George was stupid, nor will I deny that you have the right to feel furious with him, but only an inexperienced or silly person broods over past injuries."

"Oh, I don't blame him, not anymore. It's myself that I blame. I was so childish. I've hurt so many people. And for what? That's the rub. For what?"

"I imagine," he said quietly, "that those who love you will be sensible enough to stop brooding over the wrong that have been done them, too. Smiling, he rose as the sun disappeared. 'I'm glad you've worked it out in your mind. Incidentally, I'm expecting you at the campfire meeting. I think you have lived withdrawn from the activities of the camp long enough.'"

"I have been a rotten recreation director, haven't I?"

"He was a very gallant gentleman. 'On the contrary, you have been exactly the sort of person I wish to fill the job.'"

"I'll be there."

She smiled after he had gone. She had felt even in New York that he was a remarkable person, and now she was glad that if she had to have a fall the fall had occurred here in this camp, where he would come and help her to pick up the pieces.

She tried to see through the dark, as something rustled in the shrubbery beside the path a few feet ahead. "Who is it? Is that you, Mike?"

THE rustling became louder; then a tall, wiry figure loomed before her. "Just a doctor out for an evening stroll," Bruce said. "I would have joined you on the hill, but I was afraid you might still be angry with me."

"I am," she tried to brush past her bosom heaving. "That is what is so hard to take, though—the knowledge that while to me it

"I suppose I should. I suppose it is terribly ungentlemanly to use force in your relations with a lady. But really, now do you expect me to behave? I am like the man who has shown a person the pathway to true happiness—a man being rewarded with kicks and insults."

"You went to a great deal of trouble, Dr. Hall, to interfere when you had no right to interfere. What do you expect me to do? Kiss you because you proved to me that I was a fool?"

"No, I didn't expect that. But I did expect a person of your education to realize that it was better to learn the truth now than later. He released her, laughing as the first glimmer of the moon appeared in the sky. 'Isn't it strange? I find myself liking you sometimes, even admiring you. Yet you certainly are a vile-tempered idiot. But really, now do you expect me to keep all your ardent, dazed admirer's waiting. Who is to be tonight: Andy, Ralph, or have you made some other conquests?'"

"How dare you!"

"Using people is hardly the sort of thing a girl should do," he said brusquely. "What happens when Andy discovers you are not in love with him—or Ralph—or the others?"

"I would suggest, Dr. Hall, that you confine your..."

His voice thickened, halted her as she walked by him alone with an Alice Cranby? You see, I'm not that idiotic."

Betty Lee Shop Celebrating 14th Anniversary

Prominence, success and beauty having been attained since its inception in 1938, the Betty Lee Shop at 312 Second avenue, has set aside the entire month of June to celebrate its fourteenth anniversary and auspiciously opened the extended event. Thursday morning, with a breakfast party for the entire staff.

This same staff, now numbering 20, has grown from a mere three persons 14 years ago when the business was launched by Hyman Nahum and Bert Levinson. The present manager, Jake Levinson, joined the organization after his release from duty in the United States Navy.

During the intervening years, the Betty Lee Shop has grown from just a few departments to a complete women's apparel store. Celebration of the fourteenth anniversary is being carried on in the form of a "circus of values," given impetus by the appearance of the Ringling Brother and Barnum and Bailey circus in Warren on July 18 under auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. A circus wagon provided by Clyde Miller of the Wigwam on the Scandia road, was driven around Warren on Thursday to add interest and zest to the celebration, and the store will include 150 circus tickets in gifts to be presented.

A young lad, dressed as a clown, shown above, has been busy filling balloons with gas which are being distributed to children as reminders of the bargains being offered at the store.

Extensive advertisements in the Times-Mirror are intended to give Warren county residents full information regarding the remarkable values offered by Betty Lee this month.

Smoky Says:

Mulching Hailed as Vital Aid to All Garden Plants

Tomatoes Should Always Be Mulched to Keep Weeds Down and the Soil Moist.

While the leaves of lawns, vegetable, and most flowers demand sunshine, and lots of it, researchers agree that shade on the soil over their roots is good for practically all plants. At first glance this might seem a difficult prescription to fill, but it can be done by covering the soil with a mulch.

The latest argument in behalf of mulching is that it prevents erosion. A recent government bulletin says: "Raindrops come hurtling out of the sky and hit the soil so hard that the soil is splashed up on your lettuce. Scientists have measured the splash and found that it may be as high as two feet. Then, the detached soil may be carried off in the water which has accumulated from the rain. Or, these fine particles of soil in the water will settle down into the pores of the soil and fill them up. That will prevent the water soaking into the soil as rapidly as it should. When water doesn't soak into the soil it accumulates on the surface and ultimately has to flow somewhere."

"Happily, there is something the average gardener can do about raindrop or splash erosion. He can put a mulch on his garden. All of us would like to have enough straw to put a layer of three or four inches over the garden. But, often, we can't get the straw or it costs too much. But, we can take the moving from around the edge of the garden and put them between the rows. Later the lawn clippings can be spread out between the rows. An hour or so spent with a hand sickle cutting down weeds and spreading them in the rows will pay handsomely."

"Men who have gardened for years, but who were not taught to use mulches continuously, express surprise at what a wonderful help they have at last found. It prevents the raindrops and leads the water down to the soil gently. It keeps the weeds down and lowers the soil temperature in the hot summer days and helps conserve the moisture which goes into the soil."

Paper mulch, and even stones and slabs of concrete have been experimented with. But tests by the Ohio state experiment station, emphasizing the importance of soil aeration, indicate that the best mulching materials allow free circulation of air through the top eight inches of soil.

Mulches of fresh organic material, such as manure, straw, alfalfa, peat moss, lawn clippings and others, stabilize the granular structure of soils and prevent surface compaction.

Waste lumber is used by some gardeners, to shade the ground between rows. By laying down boards when planting the garden and walking on them rather than the soil, the ground is kept loose, and by shifting the boards between rows, weeds can be killed without hoeing.

Excellent results can be obtained from a heavy mulch of dry lawn clippings, applied a little at a time. The first application should be well mixed with the top soil; and then it may be built up to several inches in thickness, so that weeds are kept down and evaporation checked, but at the same time rains are allowed to penetrate the soil. Tomatoes especially like a mulch of this kind.

PENNSYLVANIA AIRMEN BAIL FROM A BOMBER

Tokyo (P)—A Pennsylvania airman was among three fliers injured when they bailed from a flaming jet bomber near here, the Air Force announced. The bomber crashed on a hillside.

Capt. Joseph L. Schaffer, of Glassport, was piloting the highly secret four-engine B-45 Tornado-jet bomber when the No. 3 engine burst into flames.

An Air Force ambulance picked up the three fliers and took them to the base hospital for a checkup. None was injured seriously.

The plane was in the Far East for testing purposes.

TRUCKERS FOR SAFETY

Harrisburg (P)—A safety expert said today Pennsylvania trucking firms are reducing their traffic accidents by keeping tabs on the driving habits of their drivers.

"The Pennsylvania plan for highway safety patrol activity has developed into one of the most powerful weapons against traffic accidents," said P. D. Shipley.

THE MARKETS

New York (P)—The stock market gathered a little strength today and advanced modestly with industrials taking a leading role. Steels and motors were the most active of the major divisions and posted good fractional gains.

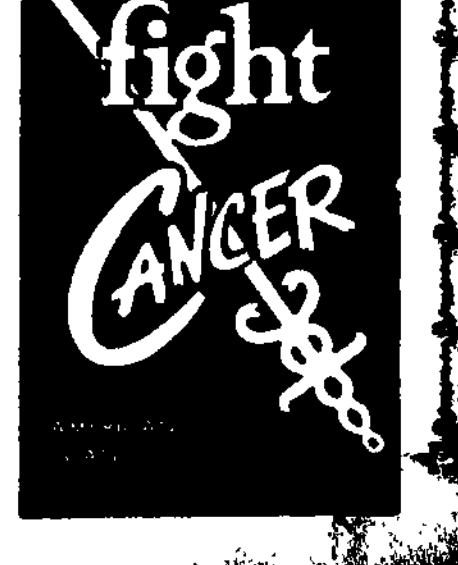

Railroads, highly favored leaders on many occasions this week, fell into a mixed pattern. Higher were Northern Pacific, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Kennecott Copper, Du Pont, Douglas Aircraft, and Zenith. Corporate bonds were steady.

Wild Rally During Final Round Means Unanimous Decision For Walcott; Now Plans 'Clean-Up'

By MURRAY ROSE
Philadelphia (AP)—A million dollar shot with either undefeated Rock Marciano or Harry Kid Matthews appeared to be the next move ahead for fabulous Jersey Joe Walcott today as he celebrated his second straight victory over Ezzard Charles.

Midnight almost struck for the 18-year old cinderella man of the ring but he came on with a mild rally in the last round of a tangle fight to win a unanimous decision by the narrowest of margins in the mammoth Municipal Stadium last night.

"This ought to show them that I didn't win the first time by a lucky punch," said Walcott.

While the once poverty-stricken Negro accepted congratulations from a mob of well wishers, Manager Felix Boechicchio began casting lines to a golden catch for his amazing oldtimer.

Promoter Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club offered Walcott the choice of either Marciano, the Brockton, Mass., belter, or Matthews, the sensational Seattle contender, for another championship show in September.

"We'll fight anyone anywhere we can get the most money," Boechicchio said. "Up to now we have not made a dime. Maybe now that he people are convinced that Walcott is a real champion and not just a lucky old man, we'll be able to make this thing pay off."

Mr. and Mrs. Warren are somewhat more reconciled today to the report card news of yesterday. The first shock is often the greatest.

George Lucia, pride of the Ohio scholastic mentor circuit, is helping Gene coach the gas station for a few days.

As regards Billie Brown with Midland, Texas, and Tommy Juliano, with Goldsboro, N. C., we hear fine reports. Brown is batting .350 and Juliano also has had an upsurge by way of the home run channels. Both boys had been in a temporary slump and were looking up bus and rail schedules for connections to Warren, Pa.

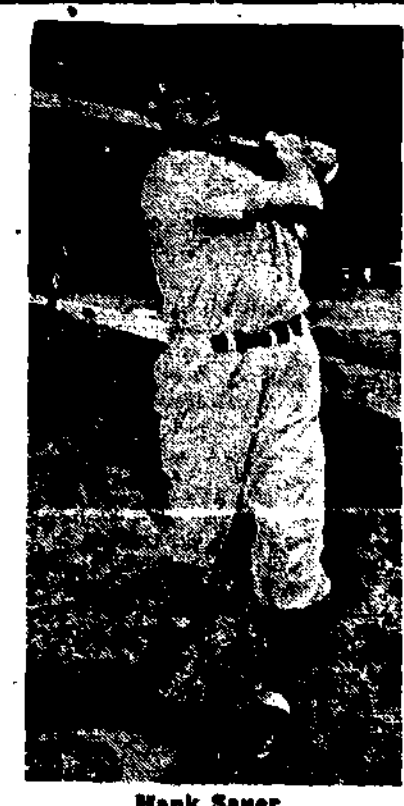

Lucia, always complimentary, is in our doghouse. Over coffee this morning he pipes up with "Walcott, after the tenth, walked around just like you do!"

Abigail is planning on attending the circus in Warren, July 18, but it all depends on an old Plymouth Rock hen. Abigail has put Biddy in a coop all by herself and is accumulating her eggs under a ledger heading which reads "Jay-cow Day, July 18," because ever since she was a child Abigail has had trouble spelling Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey. In the old days, when that circus was in form, she had little trouble in spelling "Dan Rice". Besides, she used to have relatives in Girard, Pa., where Rice came from. But to get back to Biddy (who, we hope, laid one egg while we

Local Players In Cleveland to Try Out With Indians

Reuben "Rabbit" Swanson, well-known local Cleveland Indian baseball scout, sent three Warren pitchers and a catcher to Cleveland last night, where they will work out with the American League club for two days, of a three-day tryout period.

The players are Dick Baker and Rod Karchner, currently pitching for the Warren Merchants in the Sunset League; Ed Shanshale, who works behind the plate for both the Merchants and Ludlow Wildcats; and Carl Falvo, Warren Business School moundsman.

BIG MEN—Hank Sauer, left, is batting around .340 for the Cubs, leads both major leagues in runs-batted-in and the National in home runs. Joe Adcock, center, of the Reds, tops the National in batting and is among the home-run leaders. Al Rosen of the Indians heads the American in batting, home runs and runs-batted-in. (NEA)

Harris Calls Nats' Deal With Yankees a 'Once in a Lifetime'

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK.—(NEA)—Stanley Raymond Harris has discovered that the other clubs are beginning to respect the Washington club, which is good.

"When they look up to you, you've got them on the defense," says Bucky Harris.

The big deal with the Yankees transformed the Nationals from cellar occupants to contenders for the first division.

"It was just one of those freaks that come along once in a lifetime," grins Manager Harris.

"I was somewhat hesitant at first, didn't want to part with Noren, but when George Weiss started throwing names like Jansen, Wilson and Shea around loosely—three for one—I grabbed it quickly."

"Jansen seems happy with the change, it for no other reason than that I let him play regularly. He's the kind of kid who has to play every day. Bench him and he becomes discontented, and it affects his play."

"There was nothing amazing about the way I handled Shea. At the outset, I let him go his way, worked on his curve a trifle, and used him in relief. He got hot and look at him now."

Harris says the Yankees got a splendid man in Irv Noren, but believes Casey Stengel erred experimenting with him at first base.

"THE Yankees could use some strength at first base," comments Harris, "but I doubt that they'll find it in Noren. If they'll leave him alone in center field, he'll do 'em some good."

The Nationals acquired a package of the White Sox' speed in landing Busby, who came with Holderlein for Mele, and are running. The Nats are extraordinarily swift, worry pitchers, hurry the other side into mistakes. They're the Go-Go Boys of 1952.

Jim Busby's hitting has fallen off, but Harris says the one-time Texas Christian quarterback can bat .230 and play center field for him.

The Old Boy Manager says the Nats will improve, that with a break here and there believes they can maintain the early foot.

Have the Nats any youngbloods coming up through the farms?

"There are a couple of kids we have our eyes on, but they're still a year or two away," says Harris.

"I figure we don't have to go looking for material any more. Under the New Deal, you see, all we have to do is stand pat and let 'em drop the big ones in our laps."

LOOKING AHEAD...

Subject to reasonably prompt settlement of the current wage disputes and continuance of the presently planned military program, general business activity should remain at a relatively good level throughout the year. These qualifications are important. The domestic wage dispute is especially difficult this time because employers, for the first time in over a decade, are now contending with a market in which buyers rather than sellers set prices. Increased wages and all-time high taxes are becoming increasingly difficult to pass on to consumers. In looking ahead, the question of what consumers' attitude toward buying will be is also important. Consumption could remain at a fairly favorable level if consumers decide to spend. They HAVE the money and they are currently EARNING generously. But the tendency is to spend rather carefully. The persistence—or change—of this prevailing sentiment of caution will affect the business outlook for the immediate period ahead. In short, it is an especially difficult period for appraising earnings and dividends for the immediate period ahead. The managements of the leading investment funds continue to seek out for purchase those sound companies which appear to be in the most favorable position as to earnings and dividends and having the best outlook for the future.

Call at our office for information on any of the leading funds.

DAR Membership Planning Flag Day Luncheon-Program Many Activities of Newcomers Club In Next Few Weeks

During the annual meeting of the General Joseph Warren Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held Thursday afternoon in the Jefferson room of the Warren Public Library, plans were made for a Flag Day luncheon to be held at the YWCA on June 14. Members are asked to make reservations, by calling Mrs. O. M. Baird or Mrs. W. G. Cable, no later than June 10.

The session was opened by the regent, Mrs. Cable, with the chapter pledging allegiance to the flag. The monthly business meeting was conducted and annual reports of all officers and committee chairmen were presented and accepted. Members voted to entertain Miss Sally Reed, awarded the Good Citizenship Medal, and Miss Marian Dutches, awarded the American History prize by the chapter, together with their mothers as guests at the October meeting.

An impressive memorial service was held for three deceased members, Mrs. A. H. Wickstrom, Mrs. P. W. M. Pressel and Mrs. J. A. Connelly of Ludlow. The service was conducted by Mrs. Cable, with Mrs. F. P. Kerwin, chaplain, offering prayer.

Miss Camilla Henderson and Mrs. Cable, delegates to the 81st continental congress held in Constitution Hall in Washington, gave the chapter interesting and timely reports of the sessions. The delegates, they stated, were "safeguarding our future." It was brought out that the only two factors able to save us in our many present problems are religion and morality. Mrs. Patton, giving the president general's address, said: "If we fail to keep America first, we will open the door to the destruction of our freedom and our independence."

The program was concluded with Mrs. Carleton Gay reading an account of the excellent work accomplished in the Blue Ridge Valley and at the Crossmore School in North Carolina by Dr. Eustice Stepp, named the Mother of the Year.

BIBLE SCHOOL AT SALVATION ARMY

The Salvation Army announces it will conduct a Daily Vacation Bible School, beginning at 9:30 a. m. Monday, June 9, and continuing through the 13th. There will be two sessions each day, with a pause from 12:00 until 1:00 for lunch, which will be served by Major Schaeffer and a committee.

There will be a Bible study, memory verses, singing, Bible movies and stories, and craft classes for children of all ages, with teachers provided for each class. Children of all denominations and ages are invited to share in a good time planned.

MARTHA SOCIETY AND GUILD WILL MEET

All women of Emanuel Evangelical and Reformed church are invited and urged to attend the luncheon dinner to be held at the church at 6:30 p. m. Monday by the Martha Society and Women's Guild. The program will be in charge of a committee of the latter organization.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT RUSSELL CHURCH

The annual Children's Day program will be presented in the Russell Methodist church at 11:00 a. m. Sunday. The service will also include the rite of baptism.
